Passionate BCA student || Tech Enthusiast || Building Skills in
Programming and Web Development || Exploring AI
Firozpur, Punjab, India

Summary

I am a second-year BCA student with a strong interest in technology and a passion for learning. Currently, I am building a foundation in programming, web development, and database management. I am excited to explore new tools and technologies and develop practical skills that can contribute to real-world projects.

As a beginner, I am curious and eager to grow my knowledge in areas such as coding, software development, and technology trends like artificial intelligence and cloud computing. I believe in continuous learning and look forward to connecting with like-minded individuals to share ideas and experiences.

Feel free to connect with me via email jahnvidhawan16@gmail.com as I take my first steps into the tech world!
